

As a disabled person (Multiple Sclerosis), it is especially important for me to obtain information via radio, print, internet, and occasionally television--including information from local media. Deregulation of these sources will jeopardize the availability of information from a variety of sources (including local media), giving power to a smaller number of wealthier sources. I am concerned not only about news but also music.